

HEPROGRESS

The HEPROGRESS project: Reducing health related social and gender inequalities and barriers to social and economic participation - Evidence based local policies, interventions and empowerment planning.

Read more...

Health strategies have economic potential

Good public health for and among citizens can save money for municipalities. Not only will the pressure on the social security system be reduced, a healthy population can also strengthen the local competitiveness – even in rural areas.

Read more...

HEPROGRESS polls more than 37 000 inhabitants in Østfold

Today over 37 000 questionnaires are sent out to inhabitants in Østfold. The survey is a part of HEPROGRESS.

Read more...

Moss will assess health impacts of political decisions

The city of Moss takes the new public health act seriously. Now all political matters in this city will be considered whether they have implications for public health or not.

Read more...